SEAWIDE DISTRIBUTION EXPANDS PRODUCT LINE

Company Adds Marine Cameras and Stereos to Product Offerings

MURRIETA, CA. (March 23, 2009) – SeaWide Distribution announced the addition of three new manufacturers of award-winning technology to its expanding product line. “Part of our commitment to customers is to seek out the latest quality electronics that are in high demand by boaters,” states Mike Yarbro, president and owner of SeaWide Distribution. “We’re dedicated to delivering innovative marine technology to the market,” Yarbro adds.

SeaWide has recently been appointed as a distributor for two brands from Iris Innovations including SeeSeaTV marine grade cameras and SCUBAR underwater inspection systems. Designed and tested specifically for marine applications, SeeSeaTV waterproof cameras are an ideal solution for dockside and onboard vessel monitoring. SCUBAR is a waterproof portable inspection system sold around the world to marine professionals, search and rescue teams, police authorities, coastguards, military units and boat owners. Dealers will also be able to purchase the SCU-PRO, SCU-01 and several Scubar accessories including camera heads with LED lights and magnet attachments.

SeaWide is also adding FUSION® True Marine stereos to its product line. A worldwide leader in car and marine audio, FUSION introduced the first marine stereo to provide true internal iPod docking in a waterproof compartment, completely isolating the iPod from the marine elements. Stereo units and wired remote controls have large easy-to-read displays and over-sized rubber buttons for simple operation on a moving boat. FUSION delivers superior sound quality engineered for the harsh marine environment with all stereos meeting IP65 waterproof standards and designed to withstand salt, sun and water elements. SeaWide will also offer FUSION’s full line of marine amplifiers, speakers and subwoofers.
